CHOCOLATE MINT COOKIES

This is my version of after-dinner mints: Dispense with dessert and bring out minty-breathed chocolate cookies with coffee and tisanes instead. These don’t take long to make up and bake, and I can’t tell you how lovely it is to be able to open the door to people with the smell of their baking oozing welcome out in the evening air.

3/4 cup light brown sugar 1 cup flour
1/2 cup (1 stick) soft butter 1/3 cup cocoa
1 egg 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla extract 1 cup bittersweet chocolate chips

GLAZE:
1/2 cup powdered sugar 1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa, sifted
2 tablespoons boiling water 1/4 teaspoon peppermint flavoring

1 Preheat the oven to 350°F.

2 Cream the sugar and butter (I use a freestanding mixer for ease), then beat in the egg and vanilla.

3 Mix the flour, cocoa, and baking powder in a bowl, and gradually beat into the creamed mixture. Finally, fold in the chips.

4 Using a rounded tablespoon measure, spoon out scoops of cookie dough and place on baking sheets lined with baking parchment or Silpat, leaving a little space in between each one.

5 Bake for 12 minutes and then let them sit on the baking sheet for a couple of minutes before moving them to a cooling rack, with some newspaper on the surface underneath.

6 Put the glaze ingredients into a saucepan and heat until combined together. Let cool completely before using.

7 Using a teaspoon, zigzag the glaze over each cooling cookie.

Makes 24
Brown Butter Apple Tart

Ingredients for 8 servings

CRUST
1 ¼ cups flour
1 tablespoon sugar
½ teaspoon kosher salt
½ cup cold butter, cut into small cubes
¼ cup water, ice

FILLING
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon McCullough Vanilla Extract
16 tablespoons butter
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon lemon zest
3 green apples, thinly sliced

Preparation

1. Crust: Combine flour, sugar, and salt in a food processor. Pulse a few times to mix. Add in butter and pulse a few times to break the butter down into pebble-size pieces. With the food processor running, drizzle in ice water. The dough should stick together when pressed between your fingers. (If dough doesn’t stick together, add more water 1 tablespoon at a time.)

2. Lay out a sheet of plastic wrap. Dump dough onto the plastic wrap and shape into a disc. Cover tightly with the plastic wrap and refrigerate until ready to use.

3. Preheat oven to 350°F (175°C).

4. Generously spray a 9 or 10 inch (23 or 25 cm) tart pan with nonstick spray. On a floured surface, roll out the pie crust into a circle that is 2–3 inches (5-7.5 cm) bigger than your tart. Lift crust into the tart pan and press against the sides of the pan. Trim the edges of the dough so that it is level with the top of the pan.

5. Filling: Whisk eggs, sugar, McCormick Vanilla Extract, and salt in a medium bowl, then set aside.

6. Place butter in a saucepan over medium heat. Let butter completely melt and foam, stirring occasionally. Keep stirring as the foaming subsides and the butter begins to brown. Once butter browns, quickly transfer to a bowl and let cool for 10 minutes. Whisk browned butter into the egg mixture. Whisk in flour and lemon zest.

7. Arrange sliced apples in a spiral pattern on the pie crust. Pour custard over apples, until custard reaches ½ inch (1 ¼ cm) below the top of crust (if using a 9-inch (23 cm) pan, you will have a little custard left over).

8. Place in oven and bake for 50 minutes (cover with foil if the top starts browning too much, or until custard is set).

9. Let cool completely before slicing and serving.

10. Enjoy!
BROWNIES

I don’t understand why people don’t make brownies all the time – they’re so easy and so wonderful. My friend Justine Picardie gave me the idea for setting the brownies so gloriously alight when she asked me to make them for her husband’s birthday. Ever since then, I’ve copied the idea: brownies are much quicker to make than a cake, and they look so wonderful piled up in a rough-and-tumble pyramid spiked with birthday candles. And I’d much rather eat a brownie than a piece of birthday cake any day; I think most people would.

375g soft unsalted butter
375g best-quality dark chocolate
6 large eggs
1 tablespoon vanilla extract
500g caster sugar
225g plain flour

1 teaspoon salt
300g chopped walnuts
tin measuring approximately 33 cm
23 x 5 1/2cm
birthday candles and holders, if appropriate

Preheat the oven to 180°C/gas mark 4. Line your brownie pan – I think it’s worth lining the sides as well as the base – with foil, parchment or Bake-O-Glide.

Melt the butter and chocolate together in a large heavy-based pan. In a bowl or with a mouthed measuring jug, beat the eggs with the sugar and vanilla. Measure the 329g dark chocolate
75g unsalted butter
375g plain flour
1 3/4 tsp baking powder
2 tsp baking soda
5 eggs
1 3/4 cups caster sugar
1 tsp vanilla extract

METHOD

1. Preheat the oven to 180°C. Line a loose-bottomed 23 cm round cake tin with baking paper.
2. In a large bowl, cream the butter and sugar together until pale and fluffy.
3. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition.
4. In a separate bowl, sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt.
5. Gradually fold the dry ingredients into the creamed mixture, followed by the chocolate chunks.
6. Pour the mixture into the prepared tin and smooth the top.

VARIATIONS

Variations:
- Add a little bit of chocolate chips or nuts to the batter.
- Decorate the cake with whipped cream or a chocolate ganache.

TIPS

- Make sure the chocolate and butter are at room temperature before mixing.
- If the mixture is too thick, add a little bit more butter or milk.
- The cake will be at its best the day after baking.
Penne Alla Vodka

By Nigella Lawson

YIELD 8 to 10 servings

TIME 45 minutes

Penne alla vodka is the perfect recipe for easy entertaining: short pasta is easier to cook in quantity than long strands and the sauce is amusingly retro -- think 1960s Rome, where the dish originated. But it is seriously good.

BANANA BUTTERSCOTCH MUFFINS

by Nigella. Featured in NIGELLA EXPRESS

INTRODUCTION

White chocolate morsels can be used in place of the butterscotch ones and my children seem to love both with equal fervour, though I'm pretty fond of these with dark chocolate chips, too.

INGREDIENTS

Makes: 12 muffins

- 3 very ripe bananas
- 125 millilitres vegetable oil (½ cup)
- 2 large eggs
- 250 grams plain flour (1⅛ cups)
- 100 grams caster sugar (¾ cup)
- ½ teaspoon bicarbonate of soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 150 grams butterscotch morsels (or chocolate) (¾ cup)

METHOD

1. Preheat the oven to 200°C/180°C Fan/gas mark 6/400°F and line a 12-bun muffin tin with muffin papers.

2. Peel and mash the bananas and set aside for a moment.

3. Pour the oil into a jug and beat in the eggs.

4. Put the flour, sugar, bicarbonate of soda and baking powder into a large bowl and mix in the beaten-egg-and-oil mixture, followed by the mashed bananas.

5. Fold in the butterscotch morsels, then place equal quantities in the prepared muffin tin - I use an ice cream scoop and a spatula - and bake in the oven for 20 minutes.
