'TIME TO RETIRE'

Without a doubt, I have enjoyed being Editor of the CHRONICLE, QUARTERLY, but I feel that after ten years it will be time to move over and let someone else take the reins. Therefore, I will be stepping down at the end of 1991.

We would like to find someone to come in as Assistant Editor during 1991 with the goal of taking over in January 1992. If you or anyone you know is interested in this rewarding job, please call or write to the Society. We, of course, will render assistance as needed and called for.

CURRENT EVENTS

SCARE FAIR

The second annual SCARE FAIR was held in October. It was a great success. All events; the Scare Crow contest, Games, Hay Ride, Food, Fortune Telling, and Dr. Wacko's 'Haunted House' were well attended.

Many members and friends pitched in to make everything happen. We thank all and especially the following people; Chairperson, Pietra Knaus; Ellie Sommers; Ed Sanford, (Dr. Wacko); Bob Guthman; Terry Poole; Charlotte Prince; and Bob Studwell.

CHRISTMAS AT THE COLEY HOUSE

December 7, 8 & 9

This third annual Christmas event will have happened by the time you receive this copy of the Chronicle. We hope you were able to see the Coley house decorated for Christmas by the Women's Club and the Weston Women's Garden Club as well as the ladies from the Society.

ANNUAL MEETING

November 8

This year's annual meeting was enhanced by the dinner served by several ladies of the society, under the able direction of Linda Martin. The dinner was a special event because it used recipes from the forthcoming Cook Book from the Society. The cook book was received just before the Christmas weekend at the Coley House and sales have been good. The cook book is available at the library or from the Historical Society for $6.50. The meal was delicious.

The members of the Society, through the cards sent back to the Trustees, have agreed to the proposal to move the annual meeting to March of each year. As explained in the last Chronicle, the Trustees have asked the members to agree to this move, so we can have the annual meeting and the election of Trustees coincide with the fiscal year of the Society, which begins on April 1. Since this was agreed to, we will have another meeting in late March to elect new Trustees for 1991 and to cover any other necessary business.

NEW TRUSTEE ELECTED

The Trustees have filled an open Trustees position by electing Mrs. Judy Darby to serve until the next election in March. Judy is an expert on genealogy and searching old houses. We welcome her to the board.

OLD HOUSE TITLE SEARCHED

Judy Darby has searched the history on the Wakeman Godfrey house on Godfrey Road. It was built in 1831. She has written an excellent article on this house which will appear in the Weston Forum in the near future.
